

Who we are...

Advancing Indigenous Missions (AIM) is a Canadian registered organization established to encourage, train, and support indigenous Christian church pastors and leaders to minister in their local communities.

How can I help?

One of the main goals AIM has as an organization is to connect our Canadian churches with indigenous missions. We are compelled by the love of Christ to work together in bringing God's Word to the world.

To support David's trip or Monoj's ministry specifically, please send cheques or money orders to the AIM office. For other forms of payment, please contact us!

David Robbins' Trip to India, Myanmar and Bangladesh: Feb-Mar 2008

David on one of his recent trips to India and Pakistan.

What are the plans?

David will be travelling in India, Myanmar, and Bangladesh from January to March of 2008. Through teaching and seeing the projects of the indigenous missionaries in these countries, David aims to support the believers there. David said recently, “When I travel, I find that the mission leaders are most appreciative if I help them evaluate what they’re doing.” Through this evaluation, missionaries’ work can be both honed and affirmed.

Working with indigenous mission leaders...

Travelling to work alongside our national missionaries is the highlight of David’s work. Much of David’s time in India will be spent with Monoj Mohanty, whom you may have met during his time here in Winnipeg (Nov 2007). People like Monoj are key partners for AIM because they oversee the mission work that AIM’s missionaries do.

Many who travel with David to countries like India come back extremely encouraged. They have the chance to see firsthand what God is doing through our teamwork with the missionaries.

Although countries like Myanmar, Bangladesh and India are so far away, maintaining close connections with our missionaries there is critical.

These connections are largely maintained through communicating with and spending time with mission leaders like Monoj. However, it is also imperative, in terms of relationship-building and mutual accountability with these groups, that AIM leadership make periodic overseas trips.

Please pray...

- Pray for safe travels to the Indian states of Jammu & Kashmir, Kerala, Andhra Pradesh, Delhi and the capital cities in Bangladesh (Dhaka) and in Myanmar (Yangon)
- Pray that missionaries can communicate their ministry vision as David spends time with them
- Pray that David would be able to clearly communicate the vision and passion of these missionaries upon his return
- Praise God that David has his travel expenses covered. Also pray for additional funds to enable him to be generous as he encounters pressing needs during the trip
